

Mission Statements

Here are some ideas that you can do in your classroom:

1. Many of you may have come up with your class mission statement. This may be a good time to have a conversation with your class about the school mission statement/class mission statement and our theme. How do they connect? How can you make a difference? You could have them write a personal mission statement.
2. Talk about what each of you can do to make this year a success and let your light shine.
